In The Early Morning

Words: Catharine Bethune
Music: W. H. Doane

WORK TO-DAY.

1. In the early morning, when the reapers go, To the Master's field their seed to sow, Let us follow onward while we hear them say,

2. In the early morning joyful let us go, In the summer's bloom or winter's sow; For the Master calls us, hear Him gently say, on till dewy night; Loving words, like sunbeams, dropping one by one,

3. From the early morning crown'd with rosy light, We will labor

Chorus

"There is work for all, go forth today." Work to-day, work to-day,

"With the true and faithful, work to-day." Work to-day, work to-day,

Till our day of toil on earth is done. Work and trust, watch and pray;

We will never, never stay, We will never, never stay From the Master's field of toil away.
